Dominion National President Mike Davis and Vice President of Marketing Jeff Schwab to Present Teledentistry Trends at NADP Annual Conference

Arlington, VA - Dominion National, a leading dental insurer and administrator of dental and vision benefits headquartered in Arlington, Va., announced that Mike Davis, President and Chief Operating Officer, and Jeff Schwab, Vice President of Marketing, will present at the National Association of Dental Plans' (NADP) annual conference on September 26 in Denver, Co. They will speak about teledentistry trends, challenges and opportunities. This is their second consecutive year presenting at the conference.

Davis and Schwab will share insights from Dominion National's teledentistry pilot program, as well as new technology trends aimed at improving teledentistry adoption for both patients and dentists. Additionally, they will discuss the impact that teledentistry can have on access to care, customer retention and cost savings.

"Teledentistry presents a significant opportunity to lower cost of care for patients, dentists and insurance carriers," said Dominion National President Mike Davis. "The excitement and innovation continues in teledentistry. We are proud to be a part of a new way to engage individuals about their oral health and empower them to better maintain their overall health."
