The New Colonial Forge Medical Center

The three-story Colonial Forge Medical Center is located at 125 Hospital Center Blvd., suite 110 on the Stafford Hospital campus. It is the second of three new medical centers that will open in Virginia this year.

“The Colonial Forge Medical Center is an important piece of our larger commitment to increase access to our award-winning medical care in Northern Virginia,” said Kim Horn, regional president of Kaiser Permanente. “Our new wave of medical centers are equipped with advanced health care technology and a complete suite of telehealth services so our members can receive the best care possible in the most convenient way.”

The Colonial Forge Medical Center offers an array of primary and specialty medical care services, including dermatology, sleep medicine, podiatry, optometry, and on-site pharmacy, lab, and imaging services.

The 38,375-square-foot medical center features innovative design features, including large common areas, express check-in kiosks and exam rooms where members can better interact with their caregivers. Some exam rooms have wide-screen video monitors, which allow direct telemedicine consultations with specialists in other locations.

“We proudly provide our patients with the highest quality of care in the nation,” said Richard McCarthy, MD, associate executive director of the Mid-Atlantic Permanente Medical Group, which provides care for Kaiser Permanente members in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia. “Patients who come to the new Colonial Forge Medical Center will be amazed by the breadth of care their Permanente physicians are able to provide at this incredible facility.”
