Federal Marketplace will automatically update additional APTC when possible

July 9, 2021

The Federal Health Insurance Marketplace will attempt to automatically apply any additional Advanced Premium Tax Credit (APTC) for eligible enrollees who haven't updated their application by August 2021. These automatic APTC updates would be effective September 1, 2021.

The Marketplace will not automatically update Cost Share Reduction (CSR) information for consumers who receive or are eligible to receive unemployment compensation in 2021. These consumers should return to the Marketplace to update their application to receive the CSR benefit.

Members whose APTC is automatically updated can still update the amount applied to their plan if they'd like to use less APTC.

Before their information is updated, the Marketplace will contact existing enrollees with APTC who have not updated their application since April 1, or July 1 if they received or were determined eligible to receive unemployment compensation in 2021. The message will encourage them to update their application and enrollment.

The Marketplace will send an updated eligibility redetermination notice and an APTC expansion re-enrollment message to enrollees whose information is updated after the initial updates.

Please contact your Anthem representative for more information.
