

See why Anthem Balanced Funding can save your clients money.

Help your clients save with Anthem Balanced Funding

Saving money right now may be more important than ever for your clients. With an Anthem Balanced Funding (ABF) plan, your clients can receive money back when their claims are low — just like a self-funded plan — and have predictable monthly costs.

With an ABF plan, savings add up

Tax benefits: Clients receive tax credits typically provided only to self-funded plans.

End-of-year savings: If your clients' claims are lower than expected, they have a potential for a plan credit at the end of the year.

ABF plans include additional ways to keep your clients' costs lower

Fixed monthly payments help keep their budgets on target.

Stop loss coverage protects them from the risk of large claims.

No deficit carry forward. If they have a high claims year, they won't have to pay that money back at the start of the new contract year.

Prefunding claims run-out helps them avoid unexpected costs if they terminate the plan at the end of their contract year.

Bringing you and your clients cost-effective solutions is important

An ABF plan can be exactly what your business clients need.